Foreword

In presenting this book, the 1922 "Yearling," the chief aim has been to portray the school life as lived during the school year of 1921 and 22, if we have failed, we are sorry, but apologies will not remedy it now.

You will find in this book the names and pictures of all your friends, true to life as possible, and if these bring sweet memories to you, we shall feel sufficiently rewarded for our efforts.

STAFF.

Dedication

We dedicate this 1922 Yearling to the memory of Mr. John Blackford. He served the State Agricultural School so faithfully as secretary of the Board of Trustees during the years of 1914-1921.

He was one of the originators of the plan that brought into existence the four Agricultural Schools. Not only did he have a vision of the need of the schools, but was untiring in his efforts to establish them, and was sacrificing in his efforts to promote their interests.

History of Aggie

A resolution was passed in the Washington County Farmers' Union, in 1906, endorsing the establishment by the Legislature, of a number of agricultural schools in the State of Arkansas. In 1907, the Legislature passed a bill, of which Hon. C. E. Bush was author, to establish one agricultural school, but the Governor vetoed this bill. The state Farmers' Union then asked for four schools instead of one. Two years later Hon. J. J. Bellamy, of Lawrence County introduced House Bill No. 2, appropriating $160,000 for the establishment of four agricultural schools. On January 30, 1909, the Agricultural Committee of the House returned the bill with three amendments and their endorsement to the revised bill. The bill passed the house on February 4, and the Senate on March 23, and being approved by the Governor on April 1, 1909, it became a law.

The first Board of Trustees of the First District Agricultural school appointed by Governor George W. Donaghey were:

Hon. J. J. Bellamy, Smithville	Hon. C. E. Bush, Antioch
Dr. O. N. Hammett, Paragould	Mr. W. L. Banks, Smithdale
Mr. J. B. Lewis, Jonesboro

The board met on February 1, 1910, at Little Rock, in joint session with the Boards of the other three schools. Governor Donaghey presided and the Board discussed the proper plans to pursue after which each of the Boards held its first meeting for the purpose of organizing.

After consideration of the bids of several towns and counties the bid of Jonesboro and Craighead county was accepted. This bid was $40,000 and 200 acres of land. June 11, 1910, the site for the school was selected. At this same meeting Mr. V. C. Kays was elected as principal.

School started its first term at 8:00 o'clock Monday, October 3, 1910. The first girls' dormitory was the house now owned by Mr. Diamant on South Main street and the boys' dormitory was the house now owned by George Taylor on Witt and Warner. The rooms above the present City Water and Light offices, the Carville Plumbing Shop, and Ellis' Jewelry House were used as school rooms for the first year. It was not till the summer of 1911, that the school was moved to its new quarters.

There were not funds enough available in 1911 to pay current expenses, so Mr. Kays and the Board advanced money to continue the school. In 1913 while Senator Joe T. Robinson was governor these deficits were paid. In 1915 Governor George W. Hays vetoed all teachers salaries, and teachers received only half salary, and this was secured by loans on the notes of one hundred of the best citizens of Arkansas. In 1917 these deficits were paid and the school was put on a millage basis. Senator Whitaker introduced a bill providing that the University, Normal School, and Agricultural Schools be supported by a levy of 1-9 mill for the Normal and each of the four Agricultural Schools, and 4-9 of a mill for the University. In 1921 an act was passed which increased the millage of the Agricultural Schools from 1-9 to 15-100 of a mill.

As the funds have permitted, improvements have been made. Steadily the school has grown in enrollment and interest.

College Department

Besides the four year High School Department, we have a two year College Course in Agriculture and Home Economics, which provides the graduate with a scientific, practical and working knowledge.

This course provides for the men students, training in agriculture, the most essential of all industrial efforts; this enables him to solve scientifically the practical problems that will confront him as a farmer, a stock raiser, or as an expert in any other agricultural line. All industries are growing more and more dependent, for their highest success, upon intelligent and practical application of the sciences. This is especially true with the agricultural pursuits which are making their greatest progress by tracing their phenomena back to the physical and chemical changes that accompany them. The various laboratories are equipped with the very best apparatus, giving the student an excellent opportunity for scientific, practical, and efficient research along lines of modern agriculture and home economics.

Home life being the most important phase of human existence, home-making is the chief contribution of the course for women. But in addition to home making, the course aids a girl to take dietary work, and gives a splendid foundation for work in art. The course truly prepares a girl for a life of service.

Graduates of these courses (who have finished the high school department) obtain standing consistent with the work accomplished in the Colleges of agriculture maintained at all reputable universities.

DOSS H. THORN
Harrisburg, Ark.

College Senior.
President of Senior Class.

Erosophian Literary Society, Whitsitt Debating Club, President of Y. M. C. A., Aggie Herald Staff, Chairman of Student-Faculty Council, Football, Basketball, Baseball and Track.

Thorn is leaving Aggie after four years of work in the institution which will always remain dear to his heart. Doss is one of the best all-round athletes and students that ever attended this institution. When Doss graduates this year and begins his profession in an unknown field, we wish him the best of luck, and feel sure that success and happiness will be his.

RICHARD N. BANKS
Hernando, Miss.

College Senior.

Philocadian Literary Society, Y. M. C. A., Hoof and Horn Club, Business Mgr. 1921 Yearling, Business Mgr. Aggie Herald, Vice-President of Senior Class.

Banks came from Hernando, Miss., four years ago, with the same intention of all ambitious freshmen. His experience has been varied and broadening. In the class room his class work has been up to the standard. His business ability has been recognized, as he has been manager of '21 Yearling and Aggie Herald with marked success. His specialties are Dairying, Agriculture and Blondes. In his day dreams appear visions of a cozy fire-side. In this respect, he is a mere man. We wish you all the joys that a grand success can bring to you.

WILLIAM F. COOPER

Wynne, Ark.

College Senior.

Class Reporter, Erosophian Literary Society, Whitsitt Debating Club, Y. M. C. A., Football, Basketball.

Cooper is graduating after four years of honest toil at Aggie, and it is with regret, that we lose Floyd, as he is one of the most conscientious workers in the institution. Cooper is a good student and athlete, and his deeds will always be remembered by those who knew him. We are all wishing him god-speed on his mission, and are confident that success will always reign supreme.

JOEL F. BLACKFORD

Jonesboro, Ark.

College Senior.

Erosophian Literary Society, Whitsitt Debating Club, Hoof and Horn Club, Y. M. C. A., Football, Glee Club.

Joel, we wish you success in all of your undertakings, and feel assured that there will always be a warm spot in our hearts for you. You have been a good student and athlete, loved by all that knew you. Your efforts in doing things, and your high ideals will be an inspiration to those who formed your acquaintance, and as a reward for your faithful service, may success and happiness be the dominant feature of your life.

SELMA RUSSELL JOHNSON

Walnut Ridge, Ark.

College Senior.

President of Y. W. C. A., Ero-sophian Literary Society, Glee Club, Booster Club.

Selma is one of the most popular girls in school, which was shown by her winning out in the popularity contest. Selma is a good student and an earnest worker in all the various school activities. She is as full of pep as a ten-thousand-volt current—a sort of perpetual motion machine. Incidentally, Selma is somewhat of a magnet, and has finally attracted a blonde. We wish her best of luck and trust that Selma will be as successful in accomplishing things in after life as she has in school.

MARY VANNIE MILLER

Monette, Ark.

College Senior.

Secretary of Senior Class.

Philocadian Literary Society, Home Economics Club and Booster Club.

Mary Van is studious and thoroughly dependable. You never find her out of sorts or unsympathetic. She is an inspiration to the rest of the Senior Class, and is one of the best liked girls in school. Vannie, we wish you all the success and happiness that can possibly be yours.

Senior College Class

Four years ago we came here, not alone but with a large crowd and with 1922 far in the future. Year after year we saw our class gradually decrease but a few of us have weathered the storm and today as we stand on the threshold we find ourselves stamped as the "Survival of the Fittest."

As we realize that the time is drawing near for us to pass out of this institution our thoughts turn backward as well as forward. We gaze out upon the familiar scenes and memory recalls the happy days spent here; then it is that we wish that college days might never end.

But despite all this we are eager to be on. We realize that our work is not finished but is only begun. And as we look out into the dim future we wonder what she holds in store for us.

However, we are breaking into that future with high aims and no thoughts of failure. Let our calling be whatever it may, that of tilling the soil, making a home, ministering unto the sick and afflicted, or convicting the guilty you will find us then as you have found us all through our school life, through night and day, through rain and hail, untiringly performing our duties, thus leaving such a record that our dear old Alma Mater may always point with pride to her class of 1922.

College Junior Letter

Jonesboro, Ark., May 1, 1937.

Dear Florence:

Here at Jonesboro after so many years! I never realized how much a town could change in fifteen years. When I first arrived, I could hardly imagine I had been here before and just think, I used to live here! But of course, the oil wells have been the spur for Jonesboro's growth.

When I arrived at the Hotel Royale, I was very pleased to find that the proprietor was an old acquaintance of mine. Perhaps you remember him. He is Henry Young, and was a member of our class at Aggie, in '22. I had a long conversation with him and learned that Harryane Greenberg owns the most exclusive Ladies' Shop in the city, and that Rhea Whitley is the president of the largest wholesale grocery corporation.

Surely, the next place to visit was Aggie, you would hardly recognize it. In the first place there is no "Aggie Road" but the lovely Aggie Boulevard through one of the most beautiful residence sections of the city. Some of the finest and most exclusive homes in Jonesboro are situated in Aggieville, as that section is called. Next, the school itself is so changed. The main building has been greatly enlarged and improved, several wings and another story added. The whole of the ground floor of the original building is the auditorium, with its large, up-to-date stage, pipe organ, and other improvements. The rooms on this floor of the added wings are music rooms. The study hall and class rooms are in the second and third stories and the laboratories are in the basement. Next comes the other changes: a large dormitory for women and a gymnasium have been built; the mechanical building has been completed, and the other buildings have been greatly improved.

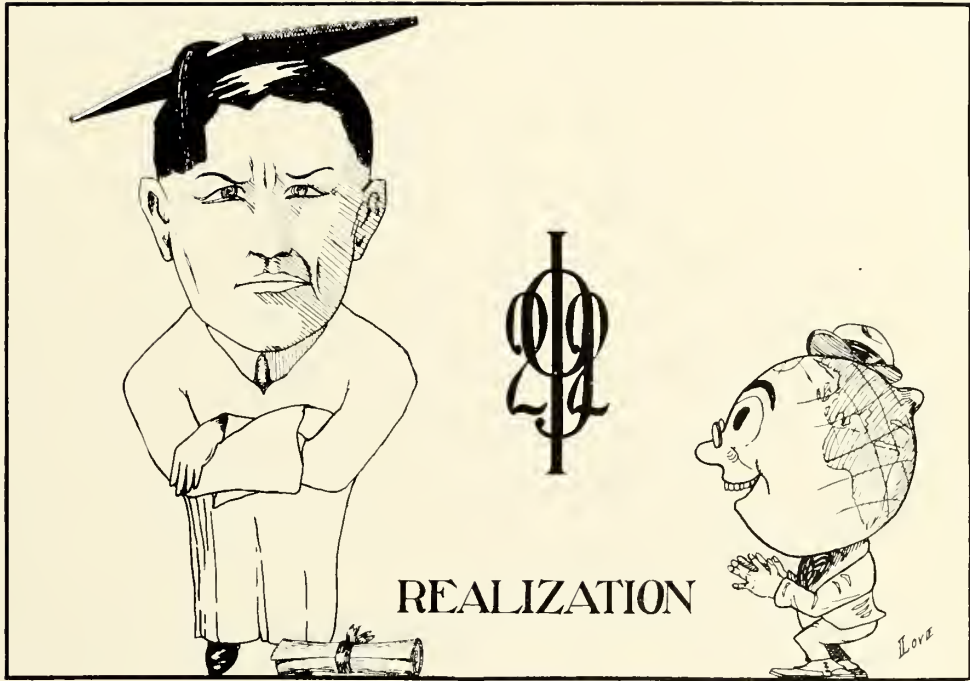

After visiting Aggie and several places of interest in Jonesboro, I decided to visit Sammie at Black Oak. On the train, I met Claud J. Byrd. Do you remember him? He has a beard and mustache now and I would never have recognized him but he did me. He has the finest dairy in Arkansas.

I found Black Oak to be a very enterprising little town. The leading citizen and spur to all business undertakings is Mr. Leonard Reid. He is very influential in Arkansas and has certainly put Black Oak on the map.

I enjoyed my visit with Sammie very much. She has a lovely home with all the modern conveniences. Of course, she could tell me many things about my old friends but the report that I was most interested in was the one that Ethel Fincher had married a very wealthy bachelor and is now living in Chicago.

I am back now at Aggie in time for commencement. Sammie came up with me. I wish you could be here with us, too. I will leave in another week because I want to spend a short time with you in your California home before I return to New York.

Your old pal,
Marguerite.

Last Will and Testament of Senior Class of The State Agricultural School

STATE OF ARKANSAS
COUNTY OF CRAIGHEAD

KNOW ALL MEN AND WOMEN BY THESE PRESENTS:

That the Senior Class of the State Agricultural School, Jonesboro, Arkansas, being in poor health and claiming to be of sound and most certainly of disposing mind and memory, do hereby make and publish this, its last will and testament, hereby revoking all wills made by it at any time heretofore made.

Item 1. We hereby direct that all of our just debts shall be paid by V. C. Kays as soon after our departure as our creditors may be able to get in touch with and touch him therefor.

Item 2. To President V. C. Kays we hereby give and bequeath all curry combs, harness, saddles, and whips located on the State Agricultural School premises for and during his natural lifetime to the end that he may use the same in an effort to keep the on-coming Senior class in line and under control.

Item 3. We hereby give and bequeath to Mrs. D. T. Rogers, the blind, red and white spotted calf as an evidence of our gratitude for the motherly love shown to us.

Item 4. We hereby give and bequeath to E. L. Whitsitt all the rest and residue of our chewing gum. This gift is made to him on account of the fact that he has chewed the rag so much with this class that we realize that he will have to swear off gradually and are leaving him this to gradually taper off on.

Item 5. We hereby give and devise to Prof. B. H. Parrish the real estate on which the Agricultural School is located, this being about the amount of dirt that he has said about our class.

Item 6. To all members of the faculty not specifically named above, we hereby give and bequeath surcease from physical suffering and mental anguish attendant on attempting to plant ideas and have them take root and grow in the minds of the testator. In this they have made a miserable failure, through no fault of their own, but they are entitled to the plaudit, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

Item 7. To the Junior class of the State Agricultural School, we hereby bequeath one razor-back hog with swallow-fork in the right ear and hole in the left ear, as a token of the appreciation of the general attitude which that class has maintained toward us. They have attempted to root us out of our legitimate rights and privileges and when they were unsuccessful, they have always grunted.

Item 8. To the members of the Sophomore Class we hereby give and bequeath the potato patch in view of the fact that it has been demonstrated that the potato consists of 90 per cent water. This is a tribute to the intellectual achievements of that class.

Item 9. To the members of the Freshman Class, we hereby give and bequeath one span of mules, named "Jack" and "Jude," keeping in mind the time honored maxim that "Birds of a Feather Flock Together."

Item 10. We hereby constitute and appoint Horace Thompson, president of the Junior Class, as the sole executor of this our last will and testament and may Heaven protect the beneficiaries of this will.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF we have hereunto set our hand on this the 4th day of May in the year of our Lord, 1922, in the presence of "Cap" Momany and "Pa" Cochran, who attest the same at our request.

SENIOR CLASS OF THE STATE AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL,

Jonesboro, Arkansas.

ATTESTATION CLAUSE

The above instrument was now here subscribed by the Senior Class of the State Agricultural School, Jonesboro, Arkansas, the testator in our presence and we, at their request and in their presence, sign our names hereunto as attesting witnesses and at the time of our signing said testator declared said instrument to be their last will and testament.

Junior Class Prophecy

Dear Editor of the 1930 Yearling:

The Aero mail just dropped your letter into my roof garden box. You want a write up of the activities of the Junior Class of 1922? Well here goes.

Horace Thompson the old class president is King of Buggany and an advocator of Bolshevism.

The old pals Mae, Margaret and Marion are the editors of the "Gentle Spirit" successor to the "Wh— Ba—."

Edna Spikes is still the devoted student of history, as president of the Zu Zu Historical Society, she is complying with the motions made in the Roman Senate in the year 99 B. C.

It is surprising to know the number of us who have gone into natural things, Freddie Palmer, Lucille Williams and Marsha Shirey are aiding the future generation by making an extended expedition into Lapland in search of the origin of the tadpole.

John Hanni is still looking for a woman to support him.

Mr. Snodgrass recently ran for the office of the justice of the peace of Pocahontas—Don't know why—A?

Paul Perigrine, Fred Wegman and Wayne Watkins have formed the Catrat Company which at present owns a cat ranch with a rat ranch adjoining. The purpose is to produce Cat fur at a profit of $9,000.00 a day. Kenneth Crews went broke in the business and now is in Vaudeville singing, "Bring Back My Kitty to Me."

Bernice Turner is Latin Tutor to Victor Kays, Mr. Kays' oldest son

Nellie Barringer has attained her goal as principal of the Brookland city schools.

Opal Carmichial and Gemma Nesbett are comparing Horace's and Virgil's use of the ablative absolute.

Nellie Miller is very satisfied as Mr. Kay's private secretary.

Yvonne Forgey and Bonnie Nesbett are blithely sailing the seas of matrimony with Milton Bradley and Joe Roddy.

Frank Bowden found his place on the lecture platform from which he discusses, argues and denounces woman suffrage.

Carl Reichling has become a classic writer, his latest work being "Why Girls Leave Home."

Elmer Randolph owns, controls and operates a peanut roaster in Otwell.

Mary Dixon Burnley is helping her father run a saw-mill at Walnut Corner.

William Hyatt in infinite love of nature holds communion with her invisible form at Apt Station.

Bonnie Bartley and Dove Torian are making their fortunes in the study of abnormal psychology.

This is about all of the old class, I hope my information as to their vocation, will not conflict with any you may have.

With best wishes for the 1930 Yearling, I remain,

Yours truly,

Bernice Turner.

Junior Poem

As we come to our third year at Aggie
And these three years attempt to survey,
My mind is o'erflowing with memories
And yet what one word can I say?
No words can tell their full meaning
For they showed us much work to be done,
And they brought to each one a self-knowledge
And spoke of a race to be run.

Our journey has not all been pleasure;
As steadily onward we've gone;
We've found after mountains, the valleys,
The places that knew not the dawn.
We have learned that the sturdiest manhood,
The manhood that battles for right,
Is grown in the shade of the valley
Where defeat only adds strength to might.

We have learned many beautiful lessons
But the few that are best are not penned,
For they come from a teacher's example
Or were taught by the life of a friend.
Self-sacrifice, patience, and kindness,
And standing for right if we'd win,
A sympathy broad for our fellows;
Such lessons as these they have been.

Every day left some thought that inspired us
Have I proved myself true and strong?
Have I been to all kind and thoughtful?
Have I been a friend that's sincere?
Have I loved for the love that was given?
Have I guarded my honor as dear?
At the goal there's for each one a question
Yea or nay, in each heart, is the answer

Sophomore Class Prophecy

It was a bright August day, my chum and I were strolling in the woods behind the girls' dormitory of "Old S. A. S."

We were meditating over what the future had in store for our class, when, on looking to our right, we saw a gate, unnoticed by us before. Over this gate was the word, FUTURE, and out of curiosity we opened the gate and walked in.

On entering, we saw not a soul, but before us was a beautiful flower garden. By each flower was a stake with a name printed on it. After looking over the names, we found them to be the names of the Sophomore Class. We became so interested that we examined each flower closely and like unto a mystic globe, we saw the following:

Robert Dillport as a switchman on the J. L. C. and E. He states that he owes all his fame to old S. A. S. and the 1922 A. I. A. C.

In the next flower, we found Aldwin Dryer, one of the world's greatest cartoonists, who works for the Chicago Tribune.

Looking into the next flower, a lily, we saw Harry Hatfield still serving S. A. S., now as a noted attorney; his soul mate is Mrs. Harry Hatfield, formerly Velma Lister.

Passing on to the next flower, we noticed Earl Hines, a well-known juvenile detective, and in the same flower with him was Vivian Jones.

Next we saw Albert Hill, chief cook and bottle washer of "Aggie Inn."

We looked into the heart of a buttercup and saw Marie Galligher teaching aesthetic dancing to Gertrude Taylor.

We then saw Harry Johnson serving ham and eggs at his famous cafeteria, "Evening Shadows."

Then came Florence Ernst as model at Greenberg's fashionable Style Shop; with her was Elvis Landers, a history professor of Yale, he being her attentive suitor.

Then Virgil McCracken, with his wife, Nellie Brady, manicurist, was owner and head barber of the "Clean-up Barber Shop."

We then looked into a row of zinnias, which are commonly called "Old Maids," and found Nancy Tannehill and Mildred Miller living on their income; Alice Bailey an athletic instructress and Josephine Rogers as Domestic Science teacher.

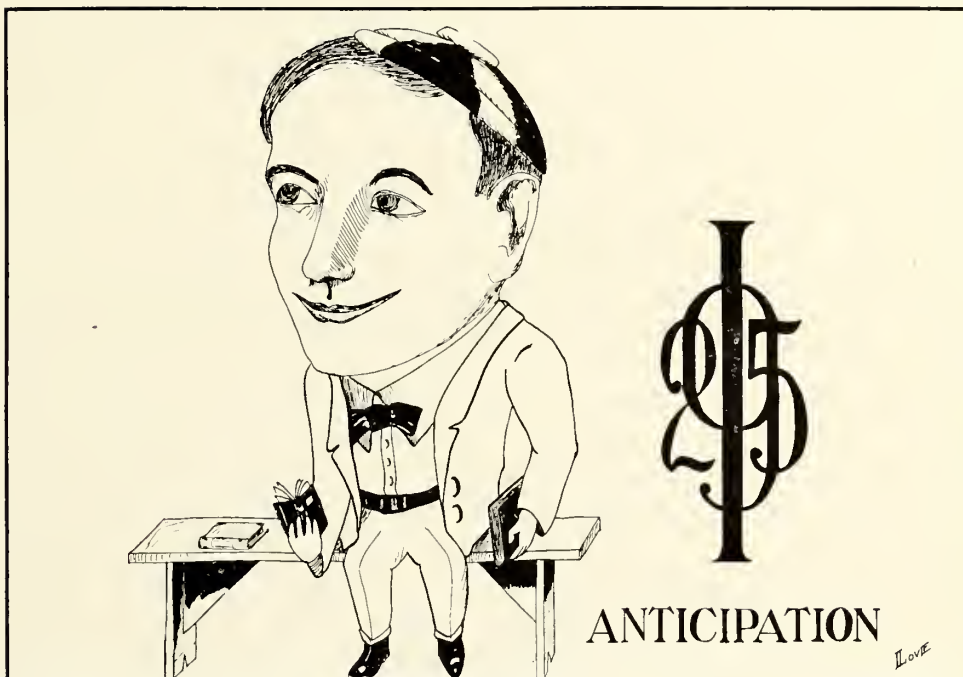

The next flower was an orange blossom. There we saw Mack Seymour teaching Laudell Spann the "Art of Energy" and beside him was his fair maid, Marie Hogue, making the living by teaching elocution.

The Yearline

Then, gazing into the face of a pansy, we saw Alice Parrish, now Mrs. Ellis Hall, an efficient housekeeper. There too we found the happy couple, Mr. and Mrs. Okel Oldham, the matron formerly Genevieve Mason.

In the next flower was a regular little city. In the city newspaper which Nolan Robinson was reading, we found the following locals: Garnett Warren sings at the Grand Theatre tonight, seats $1.00 up; also Charles Watson and Marguerite Pardue star in "Out of Aggie," a new Donna Wyatt production.

On the front page we see Ralph Stuck has a serious accident while driving a lumber truck of Elsie Newton Lumber Co. Also Stanley Sloan defeats Webster in word debate; and among the adds we noticed Lessie B. Pratt's Exclusive Ladies' Shoes.

Freshman Prophecy

Having passed from the effervescent age of sixteen into a full-fledged young lady I turned down, one by one, the few scattering proposals that came my way for I notice that I have become quite exacting and particular. I suggested to my kind and indulgent father, that since he will not have the expense of a trousseau for me, that he give me an up-to-date aeroplane. Looking up my friend, Elizabeth Watson, who has had experience with an aeroplane, I proposed to her that we take a trip far above the dust and din of earth.

We first winged our way in the direction of New York. As this great city comes into our vision, powerful glasses are taken by us and looking down we see a number of people making their way into a theater. The bill-boards advertise the showing of Berry's famous musical comedy, which stars Mary Bobbett, Edna Broadway, Grace Burnett, Olta Burke and Nell Castleberry—favorites in the chorus.

As we pass on, a studio comes into view, and we see three young men about to enter. Who can these gentlemen be—immaculate even to their long beards. They prove to be none other than the distinguished artists, James Aiken, Virgil Ballew, and Vetal Armstrong. Then this accounts for their Vandyke beards, a symbol of their profession.

A few blocks down the street we see three women; on closer inspection we see that they are Loraine Clark, Faye Darr and Mildred Douglas, who are making a nation wide campaign in the interest of the question that is attracting much attention from the public at this time: "Should women be allowed to hold the office of President of the United States? You can imagine just which side they are upholding.

As the beautiful Hudson river comes into view, we see situated upon its banks an enormous building, and upon its gateway this inscription, College Institution of the Higher Education of Women. The principal of the school is Miss De Mae Snyder and assistant Miss Nellie Englehart; Board of Trustees, Charles Boothe, Carter Booker, and Vernon Bradley.

Before we can realize it, we are nearing the city of Washington, and on arriving at a small town near by, we see a great crowd, eagerly listening to a very animated host of champion speakers, Robert Camp, Roy Cole, Justin Connor and Southard Creighton, who are proclaiming the superiority of the platform upon which Nolan Davidson, Oscar Echols, Alpha Ford, Alice Gant, and Edith Gilmore are running for re-election to different offices.

Upon reaching Washington, we are attracted by a large white building and upon its doors are written, Henry Westbrooke and Vance Fender,

The Yearling

Hospital. One part of the upper story is glass. We use more powerful glasses, and imagine our surprise when we see that several operations are in progress, and that our old friends whose names were inscribed on the doors are the surgeons. While by their sides with gentleness and efficiency stands the white clad figures of Scott Fowler, Ralph Gibbons, and A. F. Goudeau. Very proud are we, to know that these young men are being such a blessing to humanity.

In passing the residence portion of the city, we see prosperous looking couples entering beautiful homes. On looking closer we find the men who are with their wives to be Mack Jeter, Garland Johnson, Marcus Kalb and Eugene Henderson.

Leaving Washington, we arrived at the historical city of Savannah, and this place we make a landing, as we are having our plane inspected and repaired. So Elizabeth and I decided to take in the city. You can fancy we are surprised when we pass good-looking ladies on the street who somehow remind us of people we have seen before. Upon inquiring, the ladies prove to be Frances Ray, Era Osborne, Winifred McCain, Mabel Norris, Florine Kiech, Julia Sharp and Kathleen Lochart, who tell us they are contemplating entering the mission fields.

Before we leave I receive the news that Burl Thompson, athletic instructor in a college, is ill. On going to the hospital we find Nina Wisdom as head nurse and John Miller, Karl Phillips, and Clarence Phillips the attending physicians. Nina informs us that Mildred and Elizabeth Smith and Virginia Watson are very busy housewives.

After leaving Savannah we take a long flight to Paris. We want to hear some good music, so we go into one of the largest opera houses. There we are delightfully entertained by Ury White, Alberta Chambers and Wilmia Wegman.

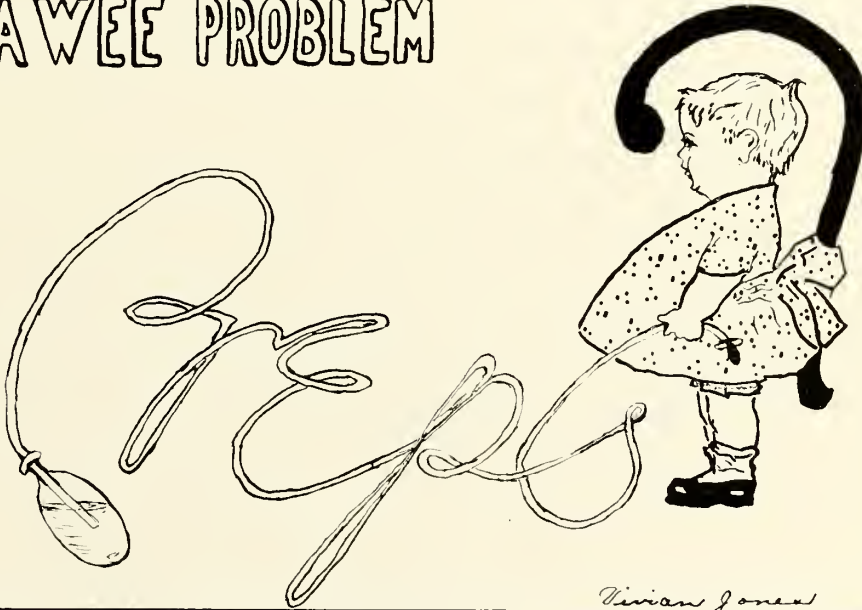

Being tired of foreign countries, back across the ocean we fly and land in Chicago. The beautiful home of Goodloe Stuck is where we first go. What a good time we have talking with Goodloe about other members of the class of '22.

While we are there, I pick up a newspaper, and whom do I find to be the editor but Aulse Thorn and the advertising manager Wilburn Hobgood. In this same paper I find Leonard Reavis to be the best cartoonist in the United States.

While traveling in my plane homeward, to my dismay, I found my right arm so cramped that I could not steer and down, down we sailed. Then I become aware that the light is still burning, the fire is but a heap of ashes, and in the realms of dreamland I have flown much higher and farther than the little French Aviatrix of whom I had been reading.

Elinor Metz, '22.

Listen: All girls who want to marry
And don't want to take just Tom, Dick and Harry
Just listen to a good description of these—
Make your choice and marry whom you please.

If you want a boy who is tall and handsome
With light blue eyes and features winsome;
And one with a wonderful taste for drugs—
Come right this way—take Cyril Scruggs.

Loran Robinson is honest and a regular brick
Stays away from white mule when he knows it will kick;
So, maiden fair, be modest and keep right
If you would have Loran the wonderful knight.

There is Verlon Roddy—the little mink
With big blue eyes and cheeks of pink,
He may be all right (tho' I wouldn't bet)
When he gets older—we don't know yet.

Listen: All boys with their brains in a whirl
Who would like a reliable, pretty girl,
Just listen to a good description of these
Make your choice and get the girl you please.

There is a girl with black hair and eyes that flash,
Quick temper, and a little of the gypsy dash;
Beulah Hall, by name, with a head of her own
Doesn't like the boys that she has always known.

Pretty Fannie Spear with her great brown eyes,
Where, hidden in their wondrous depths there lies
A hint of the true, noble nature of hers
And the modest, sweet innocence that always lures.

Emma Nell Turner lived sixteen years unlearned
That girls as old as she must not have an eager face upturned
To every stranger she ever did meet—
Whether in the church or in the street.

Baby

Where did you come from, Baby dear?
Out of the everywhere into here.

Where did you get those eyes so blue?
Out of the sky as I come through.

What makes the light in them sparkle and spin?
Some of the starry spikes left in.

Where did you get that little tear?
I found it waiting when I got here.

What makes your forehead so smooth and high?
A soft hand stroked it as I went by.

What makes your cheek like a warm white rose?
I saw something better than any one knows.

Whence the three-cornered smile of bliss?
Three angels gave me at once a kiss.

Where did you get this pearly ear?
God spoke, and it came out to hear.

Where did you get those arms and hands?
Love made itself into bonds and bands.

Feet, whence did you come, you darling things?
From the same box as the cherub's wings.

How did they all just come to be you?
God thought of me, and so I grew.

But how did you come to us, you dear?
God thought about you, and so I am here.

The Farm

Our farm which contains 520 acres of land owned by the state with 200 acres rented, is under the supervision of W. W. Cochran, who has been with the institution as farm superintendent since 1915.

Through scientific methods, the fertility of the production of the land has been increased to such an extent that the land which, at the time of purchase, produced from 7 to 25 bushels of corn per acre or one bale of cotton from 2 to 5 acres per year, now yields 50 to 75 bushels of corn, 25 to 50 bushels of oats, or 3 to 5 tons of alfalfa per acre each year. This fertility is maintained by the use of manure and cow-peas. From 30 to 40 acres are fertilized each year.

This increased fertility makes it possible to produce enough feed stuffs to maintain all the live stock on the farm. This live stock includes the government's experimental feeding and breeding herds of beef cattle, a large dairy herd, a large herd of breeding hogs, a small herd of sheep, and mules to do the farm work.

In order to have the proper quantities of different food materials approximately the following sized plots are devoted to the production of the various crops: 100 to 125 acres to corn, 70 to 100 acres to oats, 100 to 125 acres to cow peas, 15 acres to alfalfa and the remainder to pastures.

In addition to the above mentioned crops, truck gardening is carried on. Almost all kinds of vegetables and both irish and sweet potatoes are raised in sufficient quantities to supply the dining room. Neither wheat nor cotton are raised at the present time. In previous years, from 50 to 75 acres were devoted to the raising of wheat but the recent increased demands for feed stuffs made it necessary to discontinue the raising of wheat. land to corn and hogs.

The following crop rotation is being used here at the present time. A crop of oats follows corn, and a hay crop of cowpeas follows oats.

The greater part of the work on the farm is done by the boys who are working their way through school. During the scholastic year, the farm employs 20 to 25 boys who do the feeding and caring for the stock, while during the summer vacation, about half this number is employed and they cultivate and harvest the crop.

In this way, quite a number of boys have gained a good practical knowledge of farming and also defrayed part of their expenses in school.

CHAMPIONS

Stock Judging Team

The bringing home of a large number of trophies, medals and cash prizes tells the story of the success our school had this year in stock judging work. Training started in the fall with a considerable number of students contending for team honors. This number was gradually sifted down to six boys, all of whom were polished stock judges at the time the team was selected, so that the main basis of selecting three men to make the team rested largely upon uniformity. These six boys were Clyde Duncan, Alvin Camp, Quin Baber, John Simpson, John Miller, and William Tuggle. Because of their uniformity of placings and manner of giving oral reasons, Alvin Camp, Clyde Duncan, and Quin Baber were selected as a team to represent the school with John Miller as first alternate and John Simpson as second alternate.

The first contest in which the school was represented was the Southern Vocational Contest held at Macon, Georgia, on November 1. This was a contest between thirteen southeastern states. The Arkansas team was made up of one man from the Monticello School, one from Russellville, and one from our institution. B. F. Pruett represented Russellville; James Horsfall, Monticello; while Clyde Duncan was sent to represent this school with Quin Baber as an alternate. The Arkansas team placed fourth in the contest with a score of 1186, or 349 points below the winning team of Texas. Duncan was high man on the Arkansas team and had the other men scored as well as Duncan did, Arkansas would have taken second placing. Pruett, of the Russellville Aggies scored well though, his total points being 400. Duncan tied with Herbert Bryan of the Texas team for fourth place on highest individual honors with a score of 499, which was just 20 points below the high man in the contest. Duncan was high man in the contest on Shorthorns. On this breed he scored 100 per cent perfect and received the gold medal awarded by the American Shorthorn Breeders' Association.

In the contest held at the Arkansas State Fair on November 22 between the State Agricultural Schools, the team which was chosen to represent our school gave a very creditable account of themselves. The Russellville and Monticello Aggies failed to put in a team and thus the contest was necessarily a duel between the Magnolia Aggies and our team. Magnolia had out a splendid team but the combination of Camp, Duncan, and Baber in our team defeated them by 610 points. Out of a possible 3300 points our team scored 2723 points. Camp was high man in the contest with a score of 943. He placed nine rings correctly out of the eleven judged. Duncan was second high man in the contest with a score of 908, and was high man on reasons. Baber was third high man in the contest. Our team was high team in the contest on hogs, beef cattle, dairy cattle, and sheep, and was high team on ten of the eleven breeds judged, losing on Hampshire hogs. We also had high man of ten of the eleven breeds judged, losing on Holsteins.

Duncan won the largest number of honors. He won the gold pencil given by the Poland China Breed Promoter Committee, the silver medal given by the American Aberdeen Angus Association, and the book, "History of the Guernsey Breed," given by the American Guernsey Cattle Club. He was also high man on Hampshires and Southdowns, and tied with Camp for the high honors on Durocs.

Baber won the gold medal given by the American Hereford Breeders' Association. He was also high man on Shropshires and tied with Camp for high honors on Jerseys.

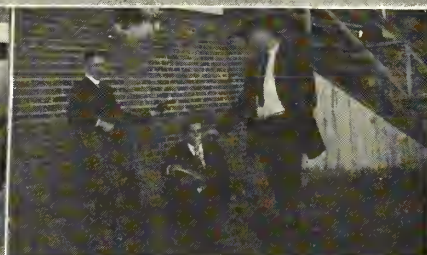

J. A. Fairchild of Magnolia was high man in the contest on Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Our team being high team in the contest, won the handsome silver loving cup given by the Arkansas State Fair Association.

They also won the splendid silver loving cup given by the National Duroc Association for high team on Durocs. Out of the $90.00 offered in cash prizes, our boys brought home $70.00. The team is to be congratulated for their splendid record, but we must not forget that their success was due largely to their splendid coaching, given them by Mr. Olson, head of the Animal Husbandry Department.

MR. AND MRS. WARR

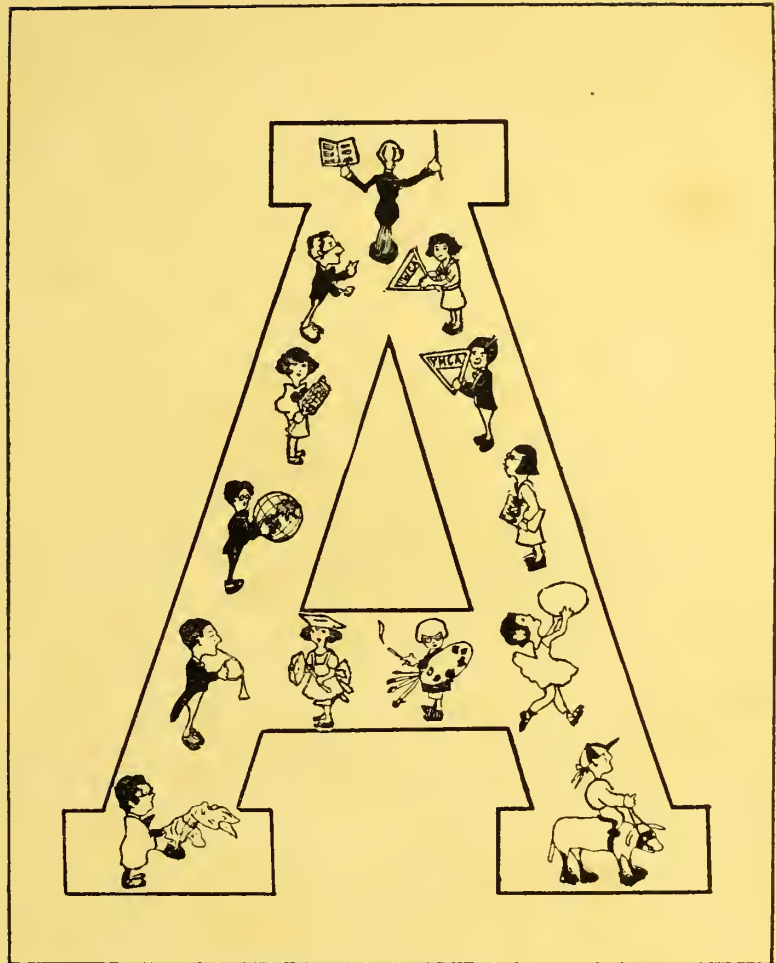

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Warr have spent a great part of their lives for the benefit of the students of this institution. They were connected with the school in its early days; Mr. Warr as Farm Superintendent and Mrs. Warr as Matron. They have seen the rise and development of many young men and women of this section of the state. They have been a source of inspiration to all who have come in contact with them. In the present connection with the institution, they are carrying on the work which they helped to start.

There is in their work a zeal and spirit which impresses all who know them.

Philos Hold "Winged Victory"

Erosophians win in Reading and Essay, but Philocadians take the medals for Oration and Debate.

Much enthusiasm was shown by the members of each Society Tuesday night at the annual inter-society contest held in the auditorium at Aggie. Neither side had an easy "walkover," in any event for each contestant put forth his best effort to win or defend the Winged Victory. These efforts, with the loyal support of the members of each society, produced a contest that lives up to its reputation of past years.

The essay was won by Miss Josephine Rogers, Erosophian, from Miss Edna Spikes, Philocadian.

Oration won by Miss Marguerite Joiner, Philocadian, from Mr. Joel Blackford, Erosophian.

Reading won by Miss Helen Boydstun, Erosophian, from Miss Garnett Warren, Philocadian.

After these were announced, the suspense was almost unbearable, for still the deciding factor was in store. As the debate counted two points either side winning would claim the Winged Victory. So imagine, if you can, the hilarious joy of the Philos when the judges announced their decision in favor of the negative, which was upheld by Joe Roddy and Quin Baber, Philocadians, winning from Doss Thorn and Lytle Baber, Eros.

However, the Erosophians are to be admired for being hard fighters and brave losers. They assure the Philos a harder fight than ever next year.

Hoof and Horn Club Entertain

SATURDAY ON THE FARM.

On last Saturday evening in the gymnasium there was staged one of the most successful entertainments of this season and in fact in the history of the school. Mr. Olson with the Hoof and Horn Club presented "Saturday on the Farm." The admission was "Bring a whole in your sock." From the time one entered the floor until he left he was thoroughly entertained. The chairs were arranged on both sides of the Gym and the guests divided into two families, the Smiths on one side and the Jones on the other. Joel Blackford and Miss Ralsick were elected "Pa and Ma" for the Smiths, while Clement Bakke and Berneice Turner held the worthy position for the Jones. The following program was executed:

7:00 A. M. Alarm clock goes off.
7:05 A. M. Bird on a tree in the dining
5:15 A. M. Shipping the hogs.
5:30 A. M. Feeding the cows a balanced ration.
5:00 A. M. Horse race.
10:00 A. M. Honey-moon couple arrive.
1 P. M. Field meet between hotel

Unique Entertainment Planned

The Hoof and Horn Club will present a unique entertainment on Saturday evening, April 13, at the gymnasium.

At 7:00 P. M. the club will present a unique entertainment. The program will include a variety of acts, including a horse race, a field meet, and a honey-moon couple. The admission is "Bring a whole in your sock." The club is composed of 25 members, all of whom are looking forward to the time when their animal will help him win one or more of the medals to be awarded.

Hoof and Horn Club to hold a Junior Livestock Show here sometime in April, has started. Seven beef calves from eight to ten months old are being fed by seven members of the club, and each member is looking forward to the time when his animal will help him win one or more of the medals to be awarded.

HOOF AND HORN CLUB MEMBERS START BEEF FEEDING CONTEST

The Hoof and Horn Club members have started a beef feeding contest, which will run for a period of three months.

The club has been very successful in all its undertakings during the school year, but one of the great projects we are planning to accomplish is a beef show to be given under the auspices of the club at Aggie. The different members of the club will endeavor to bring forward a calf for this show and they so desire work has already begun by the members and are working by a weekly volume of work as authorized by the Animal Husbandry Department. The stock show will take place some time in the third term and will be an all-day affair. Individual medals and ribbons will be given to winners in the different phases of bringing animals for this all-day stock show at Aggie which is the first to ever be given by any institution in the State.

HOOF AND HORN CLUB LAUNCHES ANOTHER PROJECT

The real basis and purpose of this club is the bond of union uniting members together in a common cause for mutual beneficial purposes. The meetings of these societies draw men together and close ties of friendship are formed, it is the intention to have every member take some active part in the business of the organization and it is hoped that the best of the is in them. "Bread cast upon the waters will return" and it is the process of casting it that produces the wonderful change in the human heart which constitutes the reborn.

Junior Livestock Show May First

Plans for the Junior Livestock Show which will be held on Wednesday afternoon, May 3 are nearly completed. This show is being put on under the auspices of the peppy Hoof and Horn Club and those who attend can be assured that "pep" will be out in all its glory. At the last meeting of the club, President Byrd appointed a committee consisting of Joe Roddy, Quin Baber and Vetal Armstrong to act with faculty members of the Animal Husbandry Department in arranging the day's program.

In the morning the stock judging contest will take place. This will be between two teams of five members, selected as the best judges in the stock judging class. Team No. 1 will consist of Burl Thompson, Louie Harocy, Stanley Sloan, William Tuggle and Harry Hatfield; while Team No. 2 will be composed of John Miller, Robert Camp, Landell Spann, Ralph Cochran and Wayne Watkins. The winning team will be given a silver trophy and the highest scoring man will receive a medal.

At one o'clock the judging of beef animals will take place. Contestants who will show animals in this contest are Ralph Cochran, John Simpson, Claude Byrd, Lovard Davis, John Miller, Robert Dillport and Quinn Baber.

Immediately following this the judging of dairy cattle in the Fitting Contest will take place. Contestants who will try for honors in this contest are Claude Byrd, Lovard Davis, Sam Steele, Joel Blackford, Wayne Watkins and John Miller.

Then all will compete in the best show man contest. This is a contest to see which contestant can pose his animal the best in the show ring.

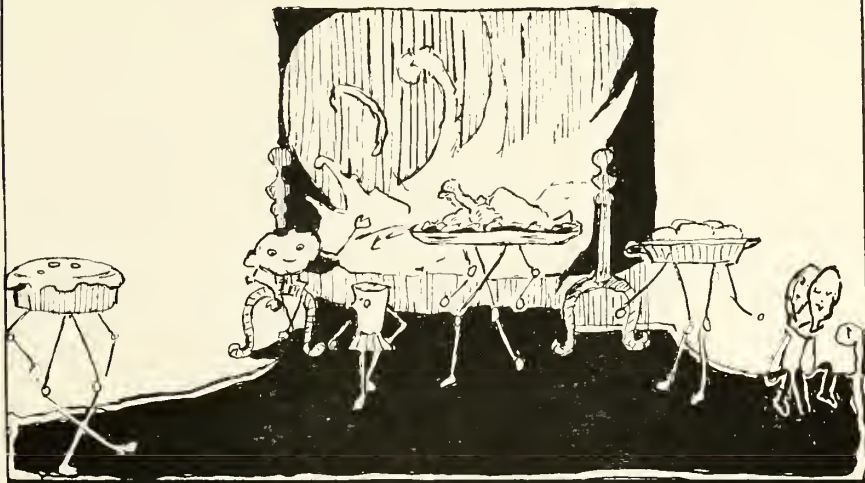

Medals will be presented to the winners in the beef feeding contest, the fitting contest and the best show man contest. Ribbons will be presented to other high scorers.

Just preceding the presenting of awards a livestock parade of all the animals in the show will take place before the grandstand in Kay's field.

Stunts will make up the remainder of the afternoon's program and they will undoubtedly be an interesting part of the day's events. A greased pig chase is one of the events scheduled and a prize will be given to one who is able to run fast enough to catch the pig and hold him. A Ford relay race should prove more than exciting. The shoe race will be some scramble, you can bet on that. A tug-of-war across the lagoon or creek will make you hold your breath. This will be between the classes in school and then there will be many other entertaining events. Putting it all together, the Hoof and Horn Club are aiming to make this, the Junior Livestock Show Day, one of the big days of commencement week.

Activities

GET ACQUAINTED—WATERMELONS—JOY

At the beginning of school, September 2, 1921, the faculty very kindly invited the entire student body to meet and get acquainted.

At eight o'clock that evening the campus was a scene of real gaiety; over three hundred students were getting acquainted by means of conversation, games, and that best of all ways, eating together. We have always heard it said, that to eat together makes even the cannibals sociable, and what does any southerner get more joy out of than eating real Dixie watermelons?

Long tables, presided over by faculty members, were filled with this food fit for gods, and our teachers seemed to get real pleasure in slicing and serving to all that hungry, thirsty, crowd until three wagon loads of melons had been devoured.

The object of this evening's entertainment was fully realized; there was established a spirit of fellowship that has continued throughout the year. The ice and snow of January and February have never chilled the warmth of feeling begun between students and faculty that lovely autumn night when we ate the red meat from watermelons.

GIRLS ENTERTAIN FOR BOYS

One of the most enjoyable affairs of the whole year was the party given last fall by our fair co-eds in honor of their boy friends.

Friday night, October 7, was the time set aside for the party and promptly at eight o'clock on that night the boys from the dormitory, reinforced by many from town, made a massed attack upon the girls' dorm. The rush was met at the door by a well organized reception committee which made the boys feel very much at home.

Music, conversation, and various games made the time pass very rapidly for all. One of the diversions of the evening was a singing contest. Six leaders were appointed and they each selected six boys and girls as members of their groups. Each group was given fifteen minutes in which to compose and sing a song about Aggie. Joel Blackford's group was awarded first honors by the judges.

Refreshments were served at a late hour and soon afterward the boys departed, all declaring that theirs was the finest bunch of co-eds anywhere to be found.

Dr. H. A. Sargent, one of Jonesboro's leading physicians, paid his visit Thursday morning, Feb. 26th, and made a very interesting and instructive talk to the students during assembly period. His subject was "How to Select Your Life's Work," and if his advice and suggestions followed a great many of the girls will select as their life's work.

Among other things, the speaker of the gathering at the high school stressed the need for work and attendance, and the interest and participation of the early decide-

LITERARY SOCIETY
RE-ORGANIZED

The Epsilon Phi and Phi Kappa Literary Societies have recently been reorganized and we feel that much benefit will result from the reorganization. The constitutions of the two societies have been revised and the membership limited to those students who are interested in the goal of the societies. Already new life and pep have been manifested. The programs are at least fifty per cent better and as the year advances we hope to see the activities of the societies

We should never lose sight of the fact that the prime object of our Literary Societies is not merely for pleasure or for profit but for self improvement. The benefit derived from the societies will be measured by the degree which we as individuals put into them.

At the same time, the fact that the system is not a natural language system is a disadvantage for the system's future use in the real world.

The Herald Staff

The following people were responsible for "The Aggie Herald," during its infancy:

Assistant Editor-in-Chief....	Mary Louise Gregson
Wit and Humor Editor.....	Doss Thorn
Athletic Editor.....	Raymond Washburn
Society Editor.....	Bernice Turner
Local Editor.....	Selma Johnson
Business Manager.....	Richard Banks
Assistant Business Manager.....	Frank Bowden
Circulation Manager.....	John Miller
Exchange Editor.....	Kathleen Lockhart

The first issue of "The Aggie Herald" appeared, November 18, 1921. Since this date, it has made its appearance every two weeks, making a total number of fourteen issues.

Each issue has been sponsored by an instructor; by doing this, the different phases of student activities and the different courses of the curriculum have received due consideration.

Every student looks with much eagerness to the coming of the Friday that brings "The Aggie Herald," for in it they find the latest news from the athletic world, the richest jokes from student life, the locals of Aggieville, reports of the chapel speakers, and papers written by the students on various subjects; in short, everything that is of any importance at all appears in our school paper.

The Aggie Herald has been a success during its first year. We believe it is going to remain a permanent factor in this institution, so that students as well as parents and alumni, may keep in touch with the happenings of Aggie.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY

On the Saturday night before Hallowe'en, a masquerade party was given in the gym. Such a variety of costumes has hardly been known. There were dancers from Paris, Indians from the West, Gypsies, girls of Grandmother's day, and even Charlie Chaplin.

As soon as every one had arrived two pictures were taken—one with masks and the other without them. Then a good time was had seeing who everyone else was.

Several games and contests were enjoyed, but the best of all were the charades. The crowd divided into four groups; witches, owls, black cats, and red devils. The owls won the prize for they "raised the devil."

Later, hot chocolate and doughnuts were served. At a late hour, all departed, declaring that a most enjoyable time had been spent in the Aggie Gym.

COACH DANDALET.

A coach is always measured by the results which he obtains, and very satisfactory, indeed, are the successes which have come to Aggie under Coach Dandalet's tutelage. Through his splendid efforts, Aggie has been well represented by a good football team, a championship basketball quintet, and a baseball team as good as any in the state.

Very few coaches have ever been so successful during their initial year and these successes bespeak much for Mr. Dandalet's science and leadership.

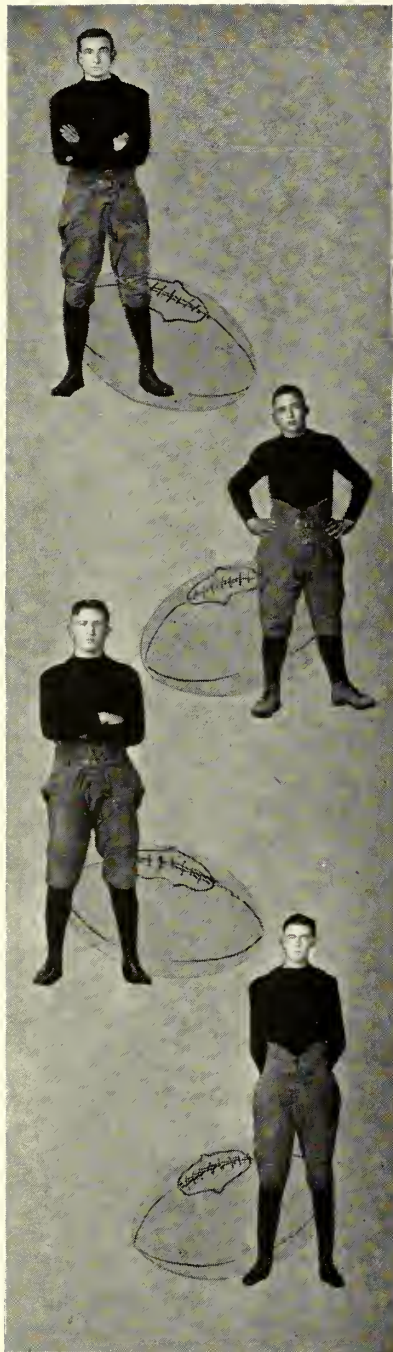

RAYMOND F. WASHBURN

The Athletic Department of the school has been fortunate in having the service of Mr. Raymond Washburn as Manager. He understands this work and has done it well.

Football Squad

JOEL BLACKFORD

Left Tackle

Joel belongs at tackle all right, and how that boy can spill them! Joel loves football and was in every game for all he had in him. He is a sure tackler and showed his grit by staying in there when crippled and really unfit for play. Aggie will miss him at left tackle next year as he graduates this spring.

FLOYD COOPER

Right Tackle

Floyd is of that stocky type that makes the ideal linesman and the boy from Wynne was true to type. Floyd took part in every game and his hard work and fighting spirit entitled him to the All-State mention which he was given in the press. This is his senior year and his second year on the Varsity squad.

RICHARD HIETT (Captain-elect)

Right Halfback

"Dick" came to Aggie after having been the chief works on the Jonesboro High School eleven during the two preceding years. His work at Right Half was of the steady variety that inspires confidence and he should prove one of Aggie's best men in the backfield next year. Hiatt did the forward passing and he sure can toss a wicked pigskin.

FRANK MATTHEWS

Center

"Shorty" used his six foot three to excellent advantage in the pivot position and was a good passer as well. The big boy was the team punter and as such came in for several commendations by the press writers. At Cape Girardeau "Shorty" looked so big that they advertised him as "Aggie's huge center." He sure had a "huge" day punting and averaged over 60 yards. Unfortunately he will not be back next year.

LEONARD REID

Right Guard

"Tubby" played his first year of college football this year and in addition to being one of the fastest guards in the state was also the heaviest man on the squad. Leonard always managed to get in on the play. He has ambitions to become a backfield man and with his speed and weight should have no trouble in doing so. Reid will be back next year.

HERBERT SCHWARTZ

Right Halfback

"Herb" is an old timer at football and the most elusive back seen on the local field during the 1921 season. Speed and pluck are his main attributes on the football field. As an open field runner "Heinie" was by far the peer of them all. Herb was one of the lightest men on the squad—also one of the toughest. One of Aggie's best ground gainers.

BURL THOMPSON

Right End

"Burl" is one of those chaps with so much of the old fighting spirit and ability, that plays around his end, when attempted by the opposition, usually ended where they began; in back of the line. "Red" starred in several games and is particularly remembered for his spectacular touchdown during the Normal game. He was one of the best defensive players on the team.

CARL REISCHLING

Fullback

"Dutch" played his first year of college football last fall after starring on his home town's high school eleven. No player on any team ever put more pep and fight into the game than the big Dutchman. Carl has good speed plus weight and will be heard from again next fall.

DOSS THORN

Left End

Doss is the "Granddaddy" of Aggie athletes. This year completes his fourth year of service. Few if any have surpassed his record, not only in athletics but in all other branches of school activities. He was a choice of several coaches and writers for all-state end. It is our opinion that he unreservedly deserved the honor.

EUGENE TURCOTTE (Captain)

Quarterback

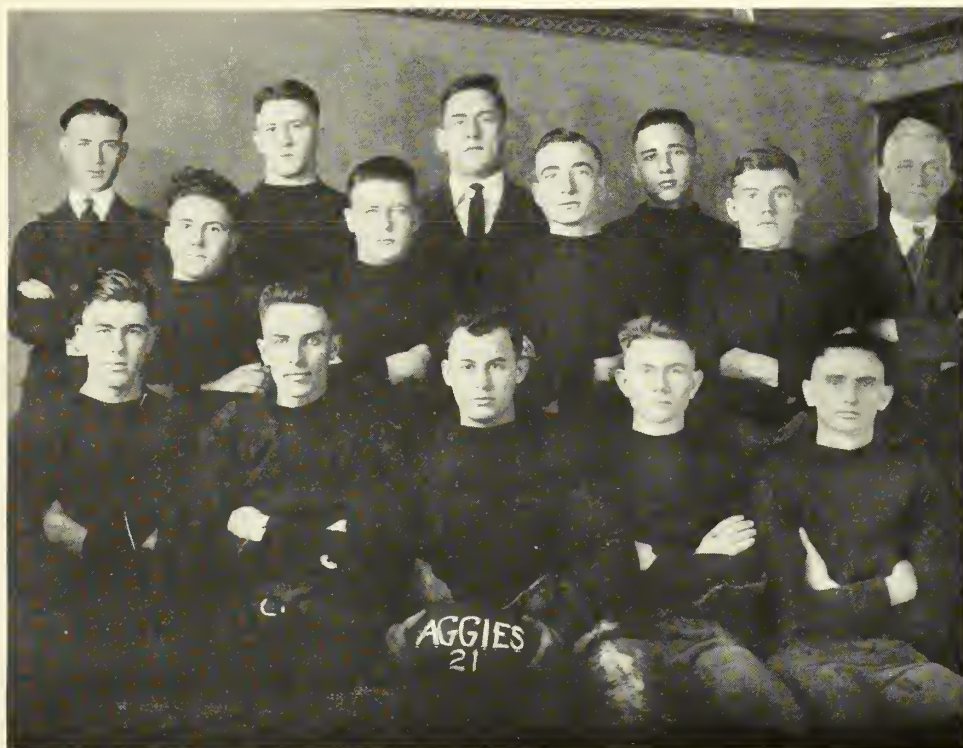

The leader of the 1921 Aggies. A battering ram who "hit 'em" low and hard. "Turk" has been well coached and showed it in every game. His regular job is at halfback, but he obligingly and very competently acted as quarterback. "Turk's" grin is as familiar as the pigskin at a football game. Many thought he deserved a place on the All-State team.

WAYNE WATKINS

Left Guard

Wayne played his first football this year and his record is wonderful considering this fact. If Wayne shows the same amount of improvement next fall he is certain to land up there with the top-notchers. This boy has all the requirements of a good football player and will be one of Aggies' mainstays on the 1922 eleven.

First touchdown of the season.

Football

Football had a fine run of popularity at Aggie this year. The also increased interest in town showed that this most popular of all college sports is becoming yearly more of a favorite with the residents as well as with the student body. There were several reasons for this condition.

Aggie was very fortunate in securing as athletic director a man who was a player of remarkable ability in his college days, and a man who is able at all times to get the best a candidate has in him to the surface.

Starting with a rather light, green team, Aggie 1921 gridiron representatives developed to a point which gave them equal ranking with the best elevens in the state.

The season was opened September 30, when Aggie entertained the eleven from Arkansas College. The final score was, Aggie 13, Arkansas College 7, which does not indicate the relative merits of the two teams. All who saw the opening contest unanimously agreed that Aggie should have won by a more comfortable margin. Arkansas College scored first and the end of the first half found them holding a 7 point lead. This failed to daunt the Aggies, however, and during the last half the Red and Black jerseyed athletes marched down the field for two touchdowns, and the final whistle found contest No. 1 tucked safely away.

Little Rock College, our next opponent, brought to Aggie a team considerably heavier and more experienced, but it required all their skill and weight plus practically all the breaks to win over Aggie by a margin of 13 0. On straight football, and in other departments of the game, Aggie showed a marked superiority and deserved at least a tie score.

A game was to have been played with the Tennessee Medics, Champions of Tennessee, but the "Doctors" cancelled, and with considerable wire warming by Coach Dandalet, the Bethel College eleven was substituted. The Bethel College team had, earlier in the season, held the strong Medic outfit to a 13-6 score. Bethel played a hard game here, and every gain on both sides was stoutly contested. Aggie reached the 5 yard line on two different occasions only to have the ball go over. A touchdown was scored on Bethel during the third quarter on a series of straight football plays. The game ended Aggie 7, Bethel College 0.

Armistice Day proved to be the best football day of the season as regards weather conditions and the "gate." It being a holiday many visitors and townspeople were on hand when the opening whistle blew. A doubleheader had been arranged whereby Jonesboro High School met Blytheville High, and immediately after, the Aggies took on West Tennessee Normal. Blytheville defeated Jonesboro High 13-7 in spite of the combined yells of the high school and Aggie students. The Aggie-West Tennessee Normal game started at 3 p. m., and Aggie secured a touchdown after about 5 minutes of play. Coach Dandeleit shook his men up verbally during the last half. The final score, Aggie 19, West Tennessee Normal 0. The entire team played splendidly.

November 18 had been set aside as home-coming day and a goodly number of the Alumni and visitors were present. Aggie's old-time rival, Arkansas Normal, furnished the gridiron attraction and succeeded in handing Aggie their second defeat of the season. It happened in the following manner. The teams were nearly evenly matched. Normal succeeded in scoring first on an old fashioned criss-cross. The team had been carefully coached on this point but relapsed long enough for Normal to slip one over. Normal failed to kick goal. Aggie scored next when "Burl" Thompson snared a beautiful pass on the Aggie 10 yard line and ran uninterrupted for a touchdown. Aggie's failure to kick a goal left the score 6 all. The game progressed in this manner until 2 minutes of time, when Normal intercepted an Aggie pass, and scored from the 30 yard line. The game should have been at least a tie, and of course, Aggie followers were disappointed with the outcome, although the team played a splendid game all things considered.

The final game of the season was played with the Southeast Missouri teachers at Cape Girardeau, Mo. The Cape team had a splendid record and having met and held the strong St. Louis University eleven to a seven point score, were doped by the wise ones to win. Aggie had other plans made, however, and emerged from the hardest game of the season, played away from home, undefeated. It is true that neither team scored, but a scoreless tie away from home with a team of the Cape's caliber can be viewed in no other light than a victory.

SECOND TEAM FOOTBALL

There is a squad of devoted Aggie men each year who must bear the brunt of the scrimmage and hard knocks without the reward which comes to the Varsity squad. This is the Second Team and much of the credit for the success of the First Team is due to their sacrifices. From this group comes the future stars of S. A. S.

The Yearling

FLOYD COOPER

Guard

Floyd was one of the two veterans left from last year's quintette. He took part in a majority of the games played and always gave his best for Aggie. Floyd guards his man very closely and has sufficient speed to cover more than his share of the floor.

RICHARD HIETT

Center

"Dick" proved a valuable man at center and managed to out-jump his opponent most of the time. He is a fast floor man and handles the ball smoothly. He was forced to play against men a great deal taller in the tournament but came through with the best record of any center participating.

HOWARD MCCAIN,

Right Forward

Howard starred on the long northern trip, and by the reason of the smoothness of his playing managed to be open most of the time for shots. Mac is a very accurate shot and a very reliable forward in handling the ball. Played in every Varsity contest and always gave an excellent account of himself.

LEON SCHOENFIELD

Left Forward

Leon was our high score man and makes a specialty of caging the ball from all angles of the court. He is especially strong on free throws and had an average of .750 for the season. Leon was rated the best forward at the tournament, and was undoubtedly the best in the state—high scorer of the tournament.

HERBERT SCHWARTZ (Capt.) Left Guard

"Herb" was switched from forward to guard this year and the quintette benefitted greatly by the change. Herb proved a guard of exceptional ability and aside from guarding his men closely could always be counted on for a marker or two. He always pulled back quickly on the defense and the forward who drew Schwartz for a guard was always in for a "large" evening.

DOSS THORN

Right Guard

Doss was veteran from last year's quintette. The big boy doesn't believe in giving them many shots, and the forwards whom he guarded didn't have much use for the ball after they got it. Doss did his best playing of the season during the tournament. He and Schwartz were easily the class of the guards at the tournament.

EUGENE TURCOTT

Guard

"Turk" played his first basketball this year and left no doubt as to his ability in the popular indoor game. Turk has been a football and baseball player for several years and he put the same "pep" into his basketball efforts that he always does in the other branches of athletics. The game is never too rough for Frenchy.

RHEA WHITLEY

Forward

Rhea was the lightest player on the squad, too light, in fact, to stand the rigors of the heavy quints encountered in the North and at the State Tournament. However, we look for great things from him next year. Played in the Russellville-Aggie game at the victory.

Basket Ball

Aggie had the good fortune, this year, to be represented on the court by the best quintette the College has had in several years. The greatest thing that can be said here is that the teams succeeded in winning the Arkansas Athletic Conference Title, and by reason of the failure of Hendrix and Henderson-Brown to accept the Aggie challenge for a titular contest, Aggie had a clear claim to the State Championship.

An unusually large squad interested themselves in this popular winter sport, and as a result, Aggie, with excellent coaching in the most modern and efficient systems, was able to show to the basketball fans a Varsity squad which won the state championship and a second team that went through the season undefeated.

Aggie opened the season by defeating Hardy and Stuttgart in easy fashion. In both these games the regulars were used only part of the time, being substituted for by the second team. The Hardy game ended with Aggie leading 47-21, while Stuttgart was defeated 35-9.

The third game was scheduled with the Pine Bluff "Y" team, at Pine Bluff. Pine Bluff has a fast aggregation of veteran players who always put forth increased effort whenever they are pitted against Jonesboro. Our team evidently did too much justice to the holiday cooking, as New Year's eve found them away off form and unable to locate the basket even when in close quarters. Pine Bluff on the other hand played one of their best games and Aggie had to be satisfied with the short end of a 30-21 score.

Coach Dandalet, with a view to later games involving state honors, scheduled a long Northern trip including such teams as Cape Girardeau, Carbondale Normal, Illinois Wesleyan, St. Viators and Valparaiso University. The team left for the north during the latter part of January and was away 10 days. On this trip the squad scored a total of 216 points. As nine games were played this meant that the team averaged 24 points per game, which was certainly good, especially for a team away from their home court. In the five games played with local teams the Aggies scored a total of 170 points as compared with 70 points scored by their opponents. This gave them an average in all the games played of 31 points per game.

The Farmers, after returning from the North, put in two weeks of strenuous practice and after defeating the West Tennessee Normal quintette 31-18, left for the State Tournament at Conway. While at Conway Aggie, they defeated the Russellville Aggies 36-10. In the final game between Aggie and Arkansas State Normal for the championship, Aggie decisively defeated Normal 29-20. The tournament statistics showed Aggie led in team scoring, individual scoring, free throws, as well as in games won. As a result of winning the title, Aggie has one more beautiful cup added to the trophy case.

BASKETBALL SECOND TEAM

The Second Team went through the season without meeting defeat once. A schedule of seven games was arranged and included the well known Helena quintette, Paragould, Philadelphia, Wilson, Bono, and Pocahontas. Reese, Randolph and Roderick played forward positions on the second team and this trio proved too fast and accurate for the opposing quints. Seymour, at center, was the high score man of the team. Max is tall, fast, and an excellent shot. "Tubby" Reid also played center, and the big boy with no previous experience looks like a comer. Washburn and Watkins took care of the guarding and the low scores averaged by the opposition shows that these guards were always on the job.

COACH GIRLS' BASKETBALL

MRS. T. E. DANDALET

To Mrs. Dandalet is due a great deal of credit for the splendid record made by the girls' basketball team, as well as the skill displayed by the young women during Commencement week in the aesthetic dances, which were a part of the May Festival.

Mrs. Dandalet is a graduate of St. Joseph's Academy, Adrian, Michigan; and also of the Fine Arts Studio, Chicago, Illinois.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Second Row: Gertrude Taylor (manager), Garnett Warren, Mrs. T. E. Dandalet (coach), Mae Nichols (captain), Vivian Jones.

Third Row: Mildred Whitaker, Alice Parrish, Edith Castetter, Agnes Watson, Alice Gant.

Last Row: Marie Hogue.

Girls Basketball

The girls' basketball team had a very successful season and with the exception of a town team practice game, were undefeated.

The girls' sextette was coached by Mrs. Dandalet, and in point of appearance and playing ability were an unqualified success, and a credit to the athletic history of the institution.

The personnel of the team was as follows:

Forwards—Mildred Whitaker, Mae Nicholas, Vivian Jones, Alice Parrish.

Centers—Selma Johnson, Alice Gant, Garnett Warren, Mary Dixon Burnley.

Guards—Agnes Watson, Marie Hogue, Josephine Rogers, Edith Castetter.

Manager—Gertrude Taylor.

Coach—Mrs. Dandalet.

Baseball

While the "Yearling" goes to press too early to give any definite information regarding the more important games on the schedule, a few words may be written regarding the early season games and the team personnel. It is very difficult to prophesy the probable results of a baseball campaign, but considering all things Aggie will undoubtedly be represented on the diamond during the 1922 season with as good a club as the College has ever had. The club is fairly well balanced. Out of the twelve men on the squad five are able to do battery work acceptably, can be used as infielders, and have had outfield experience. Four games have been played preliminary to the contests with Conference schools and in each of these games Aggie proved an easy winner.

A picked team of town talent was defeated, 6-1. Harrisburg next visited us and were easily drubbed, 25-4. M. U. S. from Memphis came next and was taken twice, the first game was won, 5-1; the second 12-0. The Aggie pitchers, Turcott and Reid, both showed class and were well received by Catchers Thompson and Reischling. The infield played almost errorless ball and no errors were made in the outfield. Games have been scheduled with West Tennessee Normal (2), Arkansas College (2), and Arkansas Normal (2). Other games are pending.

TEAM PERSONNEL

- E. E. HALE Center Field, Second Base
 "Pete" is a fast, accurate fielder and is second choice for second base. Lead off man on the batting list. A good all around man.
- PATTERSON Third Base
 "Pat" holds down the red light corner and does it in style. When Pat cuts the old horse-hide loose it travels some fast. A good bunter and reliable willow artist.
- LENORD REID Pitcher, Substitute Infielder
 "Tubby" is one of Aggie's first string pitchers and also plays in the infield. When "Fritz" pitches the opposition doesn't need many bats.
- CARL REISCHLING Catcher
 "Dutch" is always there fighting for a win. A good heady backstop and a fair hitter.
- LEON SCHOENFIELD Catcher, Infield
 Leon is a versatile infielder and catcher. Has a good whip and knows how to wield the willow.
- HERBERT SCHWARTZ Shortstop
 "Herb" is the fastest shortstop ever turned out by Aggie. He has played everywhere on a ball team but catch. Schwartz has an accurate peg and is a good sticker.
- MAX SEYMOUR Right Feld, Substitute First Base
 This big boy has the best peg from the outer garden ever seen at Aggie, is also a good first sacker. Hits 'em often and when he does they travel.
- STELL AMOS Left Fielder
 Amos is a "crooked arm" and outfielder de luxe. Makes a specialty of getting them off the fence. Hits them in the same direction. ..
- BURL THOMPSON Catcher
 "Red" thinks baseball is a profession and lives up to it. Would rather catch a game than get free promotion. Does his work in style.
- DOSS THORN (Captain) First Base
 Doss is right at home on first. Clean up man at bat. Doss is one of the best first basemen in the state. A good extra base hitter.
- EUGENE TURCOTT Pitcher, Substitute Infielder
 "Frenchy is one of Aggie's mainstays on the slab and always delivers the goods. He plays a classy game at third base, and is a good hitter.
- RAY WASHBURN Outfielder, Manager
 "Siwash" plays the outfield, right field by choice, and can be depended upon to snare the tall ones. No fence buster with the willow but comes through with a timely hit every now and then.

Banks—May I call you revenge?
Selma—Why?
Banks—Because "revenge" is sweet.
Selma—Certainly, if you will let me call you vengeance.
Banks—And why vengeance?
Selma—Because "vengeance" is mine.

You go a-walking down the street
And trail a nifty Jane.
She trots a pair of high spool heels
And floats a hefty mane.

You double time and hurry up;
You plot a clever scheme.
But as she turns and looks around—
And things ain't what they seem.

Opal—Did she let you kiss her good-night?

Floyd—Sure, that's the reason I was late for class this morning.

Before

There are meters of accent
And meters of tone;
But the best of all meters
Is to meet her alone.

After

There are letters of accent,
And letters of tone;
But the best of all letters
Is to let her alone.

She stood before her mirror
With her eyes closed very tight,
And tried to see just how she looked
When fast asleep at night.

Mildred—How did you enjoy the musical comedy last night?

John M.—Before the curtain went up two feet I knew I could enjoy it.

John—Do you object to kissing on sanitary grounds?

Mae—Oh, no.

John—Then let's take a little stroll through the hospital.

Mr. Martin—Didn't you have a brother in Physics last year?

Love—No, sir, it was I. I'm repeating the course.

Mr. Martin—Extraordinary resemblance, though, positively extraordinary.

INCREASE YOUR YEARLY INCOME

By keeping a pure-bred sire at the head of your herd. A good pure-bred sire used on grade cows (plus good feeding methods) will increase the production of the resulting off-spring from 50 to 75 per cent.

We have two splendid dairy herds—registered Holstein-Friesians and Jerseys—from which we can supply you with pure-bred sires that will increase the production of your herd. Our Jersey herd is headed by the grand champion bull at the 1921 Arkansas State Fair.

Jonesboro :: :: Arkansas

The above picture is a view of Main Street, Jonesboro. This town has about twelve thousand wide awake inhabitants who take every interest in the advancement of their community; this is shown by the keen interest taken in the State Agricultural School, which is located one mile east of town.

The school has been very fortunate in securing some of Jonesboro's best speakers and entertainers to conduct the General Exercise Period.

The following are some of the speakers who have been with us this year:

Mr. Chas. Gregg	Postal Information
Mr. Best	Telephone Service
Mr. Tom Burress	Ice Delivery
Mr. Stuck	Rome and Palestine
Dr. Hughey,
Dr. Rice,
Dr. Crouch,
Dr. Stroud	Choosing an Occupation
High School Orchestra,
Mrs. Barton and Miss Neville	Reading and Songs
Dr. Riddell,

An Elevating Experiment

(From the notebook of Byrd in chemistry.)

Apparatus: 250cc Flask.

Materials: Axe, matches, gasoline, dynamite, nitro glycerine.

Procedure: Drop lighted match into gasoline, this is to see if it supports combustion. Does it? How high did it raise you? Measure distance in millimeters. Next determine boiling point by placing 10cc into a beaker over Bunsen burner. Move a lighted splint over the gas and see how close you can come to it without igniting it. Make a record of the distance. Note the physical properties of dynamite. Pound a small piece into a flat shape and jump on it. Chop the dynamite into pieces one millimeter or the result will be inaccurate. Put dynamite into flask of 25cc capacity, and add 100cc of nitroglycerine. Move a lighted splint around the bottom of the beaker. This is to see if it leaks. If you are still in good health boil for fifteen minutes, and pour the residue through a sieve.

After the blood has been mopped from the aisle, and the remains of your fellow workers sent to the morgue, clean up your desk and then from your results calculate the amount of dynamite necessary to blow the eyebrow off a mosquito.

The Professor Wasn't Tongue Tie-d

Snodgrass (looking through microscope in bacteriology)—Mr. Martin, what kind of bacteria are these with such a riot of color?

Mr. Martin—They have no color; that's the reflection of your tie.

Almost Coughed Its Cylinder-Head Off

Davis—Say, Joel, I see your engine's coughing badly again.

Joel Blackford—Shouldn't wonder. I had its muffler off last night.

The Horse Blew "Himself."

Mr. Cocanower (in veterinary science class)—Harry, take this tube, fill it with that powder, put it in the horse's mouth and blow hard.

H. Greenberg (returned after a few minutes with eyes watering and appeared in great agony)—All r-right s-sir.

Mr. Cocanower—What on earth is the matter?

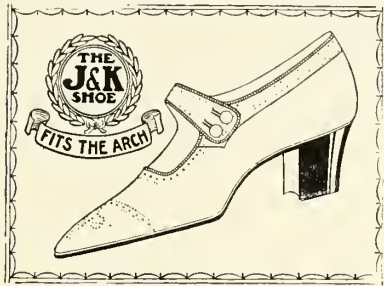

Harry—The horse blew first.

The Supreme Task

Mr. Whatsitt (in chemistry class)—Clement name a substance difficult to analyze.

Clement Baber—Aggie Hash.

And Sea-Sickness

Prof. Nixon (In chem. class)—What does sea water contain, besides the sodium chloride, that we have not mentioned?

Miss Fincher—Fish, sir.

'Tis True

Mr. Whatsitt—Simpson, what do electric currents grow on?

Simpson—Power plants of course.

Mr. Martin (in physics class)—What is a good conductor of electricity?

Randolph—Telephone poles.

Wonderful Control

Edna Spikes (at a baseball game, excitedly)—Isn't Tubby Reid a wonderful pitcher? He hits the club nearly every throw.

Speaking of Funny Places

Ralph (to his room mate)—Where is my cap?

Camp—On the typewriter, I guess.

Ralph—What! On the typewriter? I wonder what ridiculous thing will I find it on next?

Don't Fall for This

Nearly everybody has a well developed bump of curiosity.

And what does this lead to?

Why in this case it leads to turning the page upside down.

Some Height

Quin—I saw young Whitley's sweetheart yesterday.

Lytle—Wal, I reckon I did meself, but she's so tall it would make a woodpecker dizzy to look out of her ear.

The Real Question

Cooper—We had been hunting long when there lay a rabbit dead at my feet.

Love—What had it died of?

His Grasping Disposition

Vivian Jones—Why did they put Turcott out of the game?

Mrs. Dandeleet—For holding.

Vivian—Oh, isn't that just like Turk!

Selma Johnson—One never hears a breath of scandal about Mildred.
Edith Castetter—Why? Hasn't she any friends?

Bovinely Speaking

Schoenfield—Has Mike Howe registered here?
Clerk—What do you think this is—a livery stable?

His Prize Lamp

Father (reading letter from Fritz)—Fritz says he's got a beautiful lamp for boxing.

Mother—I just knew he'd win something in his athletics.

Careless of Him

"Terribly rough," said a stranger on board the boat returning to America with our soldiers.

Joe Snodgrass—"Well, it wouldn't be near so rough if the captain would only keep in the furrows."

Distinction

Mr. Olson (in A. H. class)—What, forgotten your pencil again, Clyde! What would you think of a soldier without a gun?

Clyde Bowdon (an ex-service man)—I'd think he was an officer.

Saving Him Pain

Dillport—Dad, can you sign your name with your eyes shut?

Dad—Certainly.

Dillport—Well, then, shut your eyes and sign my report card.

Developing

I understand that your boy, Max, is interested in perpetual motion.

Mr. Seymour—Yes, and I'm kinder encouraged about it. I thought for a while that he was interested in perpetual rest.

Efficient Remedy

Miss Babcock (in history class)—Can any one of you tell me what makes the Pisa lean?

Marion—I don't know, or I would take some myself.

Class Bud

Sammie—Why do they call me the flower of the class?

Joe—Because you're such a blooming idiot.

Put It in Rhyme

The following complaint was made by Mr. Cochran to the J. L. C. E. railroad, after one of the school's hogs had gone down in defeat:

Mr Razorback strolled your track
A week ago today;
Your 29 came down the line
And sniffed his life away.
You can't blame me; the hog, you see,
Slipt through a cattle-gate,
So kindly pen a check for ten,
This debt to liquidate.

This is the reply from the J. L. C. E.:
Old 29 came down the line,
And killed your hog, we know;
But razorbacks on railroad-tracks
Quite often meet with woe.
Therefore, my friend, we cannot send
The check for which you pine.
Just plant the dead; place o'er his head:
"Here lies a foolish swine."

Careful

Joel Blackford, having been asked to sing asked Miss Neville to accompany him on the Piano.

"Not without a chaperon," she meekly replied.
Because she was a very, very careful girl.

Just a Little Dew

Helen—What beautiful flowers; why, isn't there a little dew on them yet?
Everette (blushing furiously)—Yes, but I'll pay it before long.

Not Satisfied

Robinson—What you got?
DeWitt—Four aces.
Robinson—Hm-m-m—what's your other card?

Hoarse Sense

Doss Thorn—Dorothy, you are hoarse this morning. You must have caught cold in the theatre last night.

Dorothy Barnes—Shouldn't wonder. I sat in the Z row (zero).

Dot's So

Dick Burnley (to bus driver)—Which end of the bus do I get off?
Driver of bus—It don't make no difference, both ends stop.

That's What They Say—

"I'll be dammed," said the river.
"I'm on the run," said the motor.
"I've been exposed," said the film.
"Well! I'll be darned," said the stocking.

Perpetual Motion

R. Whitley—That fountain pen you sold me wasn't any good.
Salesman—What was the matter with it?
R. Whitley—The other day when writing with it, it stopped writing all of a sudden.
Salesman—Did you fill it?
R. Whitley—No, it said self-filling on the box.

But Will He Go?

R. Washburn—Mr. Parrish has a wonderful invention in the way of a clock.
H. Schwartz—What's wonderful about it?
R. Washburn—Well, beginning at ten o'clock, instead of saying "Coo-coo," it says "time-to-go—ain't you gotta home?"

Hadn't Joint 'Em Yet

Mr. Martin (in Biology)—What can you tell me about the joints?
O. Campbell—I don't know much about 'em, sir, I'm a new student here.

A Hot One

Mr. Martin (in Physics class)—Love, why didn't you complete the last experiment on the tempering of steel?
Lyles Love—Well, sir, I began heating the steel as you said and the first thing I knew the strip of steel lost its temper, and I could not complete the experiment while it was in such a state.
